This 1999 recording reunites the famed piano trio that McPartland led at New York's Hickory House jazz club. Along with century listeners a rare glimpse into the medieval worldview. A renowned religious leader, mystical writer, and naturalist in her time, Hildegard continues to exert influence through her music and life story. Performed by the highly-respected early music ensemble, Sequentia, these ethereal melodies are good for meditation, lovely to listen to, and fascinating history as well!

talents of Sharon Isbin, the musician that Boston Magazine called "the pre-eminent guitarist of our time," Brazilian percussionist/composer Thiago de Mello, and saxophonist Paul Winter. The result is magical: lively rhythms and haunting melodies performed with skill and spirit. Isbin achieves her goal of "bringing the rainforest . . . to life through music."
